METHODIST CHURCH.

Shan M. Hull, Pastor.

Last Sunday was "Bank Day" at the Hondo Methodist Church. The pastor presented every family that was represented in the service with a little Missionary Offering bank. The banks are to be placed on the dining tables at each meal, and some member is asked to drop a penny into the bank at each meal, to be used as a special thank offering to be applied on our Conference Benevolences. This is to be kept up until Easter Sunday, at which time we will present our banks and our offerings as we partake of the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper. We are undertaking this method for raising a little extra money that we might be the more able to pay our Conference assessments in full this coming fall. Let's remember that we are asked to pay one half of our Conference Assessments by Easter Sunday, or at least by the meeting of the District Conference, which will be the 20th of April.

Our Christian Educational School will begin this coming Sunday afternoon, at half past two o'clock. One course will be offered for workers with children; another course for Young People, "What it means to be a Christian"; and the other course will be a Bible course on the Life of Christ. The books for the courses will be offered for rent, 10 cents, for each course. We are very anxious for a large enrollment in the different courses. The school will close the night of the 12th of February.

The Missionary Institute for this end of the District will be held at Pearsall, February 13th. We are hoping that several of our workers will attend the meeting. Let's begin making our plans to go.

ST. PAUL'S LUTHERAN CHURCH.

The engineer climbs into his cab on a dark night. He cannot see the track to his destination. The headlights pierce the grim darkness but only a few hundred yards away. Does the engineer say, "I will not touch the throttle until I can see all the way?" If he did, he would never arrive at his destination. What does he do? He sets the locomotive in motion and, as he does so, the light moves on up ahead so that always he is able to see as much as is necessary for him to proceed.

So it is in the Christian life. We shall not wait until we can understand everything, for then we should never make a beginning. God wants us to begin where we are, and as we do His will, more light will be given us. One day we shall know.

"If any man will lead to His will, he shall know of the teaching, whether it is of God, or whether I speak from myself" are words of Jesus, the Savior. John 7, 17.

German service Sunday, February 9, beginning at 10:30. Sunday school and Bible Class meet at 9:00 A. M. English service Sunday, February 16, at 10:30 A. M.

The Senior Luther League will meet Thursday, February 13, at 7:30 P. M.

NEW BANK OPENS FOR BUSINESS.

The Hondo National Bank, succeeding the First National Bank of Hondo and the Hondo State Bank consolidated with the close of business Saturday, February 1st, opened for business in the First National Bank building Monday morning, February 3rd. All deposit accounts carried by both banks are being handled by the new institution. The officers of the new bank are: Claude W. Gilliam, president; P. Jungman, vice-president; J. H. Burgin, vice-president; Chas. Finger, cashier; and H. Schweers, assistant cashier; and W. A. Bendele, former president of the First National Bank, succeeded Mr. J. H. Burgin as Secretary-Treasurer of the Hondo National Farm Loan Association. We are not informed as to the future business plans of Mr. H. F. King and Mr. J. R. Chancey, formerly president and cashier of the Hondo State Bank.

The officials and the employees of the new institution are experienced men and, aside from the fact that they are backing up their faith in the enterprise with their money, their knowledge and experience assures careful and safe management.

PETER WEYNAND DEAD.

Mr. Peter Weynand, an aged and long-time citizen of Hondo, passed away at his home here Friday, January 31, 1936, after an illness of several days' duration, complicated by the weakness of age. After a funeral service at St. John's Catholic Church, he was laid to rest in the Catholic cemetery at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon, mourned by a large concourse of sorrowing relatives and friends. Owing to the illness of the Pastor, Rev. T. A. Flynn, the services were conducted by Rev. Father Zuber of D'Hanis assisted by a nephew of the deceased, Rev. Wm. R. Lamm, S. M., of St. Mary's University of San Antonio, who preached the sermon.

Mr. Weynand was the son of German immigrants, Hubert Weynand and wife, Angelina (nee Ney), and was born at old Fort Lincoln, above D'Hanis, December 20, 1858. He grew to young manhood in Medina County and married Miss Mary Zerr, who survives him. To this happy union six children were born, five sons and one daughter, all of whom survive and were present for the funeral of their father. The children are: sons, Hubert of Somerset, August of Hondo, Paul of Pecos City, Herman of Hondo, and Robert of San Antonio; and the daughter, Miss Cecilia Weynand of Hondo. Besides his immediate family and several grandchildren, Mr. Weynand is survived by several brothers and sisters, namely: Leopold Weynand, D'Hanis; Mrs. Katherine Bischoff, D'Hanis; Jos. Weynand, D'Hanis; John Weynand, San Antonio; Mrs. Angela Fonda, San Antonio; Mrs. Mary Foster, San Antonio; Louis J. Weynand, D'Hanis; and Mrs. Theresa Wolff, D'Hanis.

Mr. Weynand moved with his family to Hondo in 1898 and a few years later erected his stone residence on Bandera Avenue where he made his home until his death. For many years he was in the blacksmith business in Hondo and patented a grain-guide, an attachment for mowers and reapers that proved a useful instrument in harvesting crops that were tangled or of heavy growth. He was an industrious man, an exemplary citizen and a faithful member of the church of his choice. His community loses a good man and neighbor and his family a devoted husband and father. A good man has gone to his reward.

The active pall-bearers were: Henry Weynand, San Antonio; Arnold Weynand, D'Hanis; Raymond Wolff, D'Hanis; Ben Koch, D'Hanis; Wilfred Zerr, D'Hanis; and Robert Koch of Hondo.

The following were the honorary pall-bearers: Judge R. J. Noonan, Joe Nye, August Schuehle, O. E. Laey, Hy. Batot, Sr., James Amberson, Louis Stiegler, Chas. L. Graff, Albert Neuman, A. T. Forst, H. E. Haas, S. A. Jungman, C. J. Bless, and Jack Rely.

JACOB F. REUS, SR., DEAD.

Jacob F. Reus, Sr., 75, died in his home on the Covington Road, near San Antonio, Saturday morning, February 1, 1936. He was a native of Bexar County. Survivors are four sons, Charlie, Oscar, Hugo and Jacob, Jr.; nine daughters, Mrs. Leonard Otto of Castroville, Mrs. Tom Bendele of Hondo, Mrs. William Bendele of Dunlay, Mrs. Henry Oppelt of Poth, Mrs. Alois Elsenhauer of San Antonio, Mrs. George Mansell of Baytown, Mrs. Charles Kerns of Sayers, Mrs. Alice Meuth, Mrs. Joe Schulze, both of San Antonio; sister, Mrs. Tina Kieffer; 50 grandchildren and one great grandchild. Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon from the chapel of the Riehe Undertaking Co., of San Antonio. Rev. A. L. Wolff officiated, and burial was made in the Lutheran cemetery.

Mr. Reus made his home in the Quibi community for several years and was widely known among the Anvil Herald's readers.

We join in sympathy for those who mourn his departure.

ABOUT THE BOND PROPOSAL.

From The Devine News of February 6th we quote the following comment:

An election order has been posted here and published in the Hondo Anvil Herald, for a county-wide election February 29th, to vote upon the issuance of $20,000 in serial bonds, to run thirty years at not more than 5 per cent, for the purpose of buying the Medina County Fair grounds property for a public park and playgrounds. The fair has not functioned in some time and the park is used primarily by Hondo as a meeting place for athletic meets, horse racing, dancing, ball games, etc. It is located on the highway west from Hondo and will mean little to Devine, however, it is a small county-wide proposition; will probably carry in the county at large; and scattered over over thirty years will hardly be noticed in increase of taxation. We must still remember that Hondo is our county-seat.

The LaCoste Ledger, in its issue of January 31st, closes a column review of the proposal with the following paragraph:

Recognition of the services of the world war veterans should not go unnoticed and there is no better or less expensive way of giving proper recognition to the splendid services rendered than by procuring some kind of lasting memorial. The county park grounds, situated close up to the county seat, are well located for the purpose and this election should have the careful consideration of the entire citizenry of the county.

REDBIRDS 52; COTULLA 32.

The Hondo basketballers motored to Cotulla last Friday night where they defeated the Cotulla Matadors 52 to 32. This was the second defeat the Cotulla teams has suffered at the hands of the Redbirds this season. The air-tight defense of the Hondo team had the Cotulla boys completely smothered in the first half, holding them to but 8 points. The Redbirds using a slow breaking offense tallied 18 points in the first period, then opened up in the last half to fire the ball through the basket for a total of 52 points, while the best that the Matadors could do, was to find the basket for 32 markers. Sadler, with 15, Parsons, with 22 and Barry, with 9 points did most of the scoring for the winners. Jamison found the basket for 15 points to lead the scoring for Cotulla.

The Redbirds made it an even dozen victories, with only one defeat this season when they swamped the Sabinal High school last night to the tune of 64 to 18. It was an easy game for the local team who scored almost at will. Leading 28 to 3 at the half, the Redbirds continued their scoring spree through the final period for a total of 64 points, while Sabinal finished the game with 18 points.

The local basketballers are looking for some stronger competition and will match games with teams of a higher caliber in the near future. Come out and help them keep up their winning streak.

INCREASED PURCHASE OF GAS RANGES.

"Recovery is beginning at home," said W. R. Briggs, District Manager, today in commenting on the growth of business in the United Gas System territory last year.

"The increase in gas range purchases was over 30 percent greater last year than in 1934," Mr. Briggs said, "including both new and replacement business."

"More than 60 percent of the cooking equipment in the United States is ready now for replacement, and gas appliance dealers throughout the system report that the demand for new gas ranges is active," he said.

"Here in Hondo we notice daily that more of our customers are taking time to look around and discuss major plans for expenditures for their homes."

This, Mr. Briggs believes, has been encouraged by continued confidence in the times, better terms and more available accommodations on installment paper, and the realization that prices on such durable goods as gas ranges logically may be expected to advance along the prices of raw materials, particularly those of steel and iron.

DORCAS CLASS MEETS.

The Dorcas Class of the Baptist Church met on Wednesday afternoon, February 5th, at the home of Mrs. Jack Fusselman with Mrs. Jack Fusselman, Jr., as hostess. Fourteen members and one visitor were present. At the close of the business session, several games of "42" were played, after which a lovely plate lunch consisting of shrimp salad, smacks, deviled eggs, cakes and coffee, was served to the following: Mesdames J. A. Buswell, E. G. Pope, Toby Taylor, Ed Baker, F. L. McWilliams, Jim Duncan, N. F. Woolls, Horace Crow, Ben Bradley, E. E. Kollman, Bill Crow, Misses Roseina Taylor and Gladys Fusselman, and the hostess, Mrs. Jack Fusselman, Jr.

TAXPAYERS BECOME GREATEST EMPLOYERS.

According to the United States News, the federal payroll early in 1933 included 2,159,835 persons. By December, 1934, the number had grown to 7,558,228. And in December, 1935, the total was 9,047,956.

These nine million people receive federal pay totaling more than $5,000,000,000 per year.—Industrial News Review.

FOUR ESSENTIALS OF PROGRESS.

A national policy to encourage employment and investment of savings in productive enterprise must recognize four points:

1. A constant fight to keep down taxes. (Politics keeps raising them.)
2. A constant fight to keep down legislation. (Politics multiplies laws.)
3. A constant fight against radicalism. (Politics truckles to the radicals.)
4. A constant fight against government in business. (Politics coddles socialism.)

The fight on the above four lines must be waged in the interest of the people all the year around, and must be made outside of party lines.—Industrial News Review.

And by the same token, to be effective, the News Review should have added, "the same fight must be made INSIDE OF ALL PARTIES."

RAISING GASOLINE TAXES OPPOSED.

At the present time every state levies a tax against gasoline, ranging from two to six cents a gallon, and it is forecast that the total revenue this year will reach the record sum of $550,000,000. Gasoline is subjected to the largest sales tax of any commodity, with the possible exception of cigarettes.

However, many legislators are not satisfied even with this. Campaigns are underway in a number of States—notably Louisiana, West Virginia, Maine, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Washington, Nebraska and Colorado—to push the tax rates still higher. In the beginning, when gas taxes were only one or two cents a gallon, it was a popular form of taxation with the public, and apparently many officials still believe that "one cent more won't make any difference."

There are unmistakable signs that the public, long patient, is tiring of excessively high rates and perennial increases. The voters of North Dakota recently refused to increase the tax from three to four cents a gallon, and the disapproving voice of the public has been heard in other states.—Selected.

THE PRICE OF HASTE.

"Haste," according to the Travelers Insurance Company, "causes nine out of ten automobile accident deaths."

There are various forms of hasty driving—all of them reprehensible, all generally unnecessary. Exceeding the speed limit is the most common form—and is the most important single cause of fatal accidents. Reckless driving—such as cutting in and out of traffic, passing on hills and curves, etc.—is another form. So is driving on the wrong side of the road. So is usurping the right-of-way—which is an especially prolific source of accidents, serious and minor, in towns and cities.

Last year haste in its many forms was the direct cause of about 30,000 deaths, to say nothing of hundreds of thousands of injuries, and property damage running into the millions. At best, those hasty drivers might have saved a few seconds or a few minutes by being reckless—they might have reached some distant objective half an hour sooner than if they had driven carefully. What price they and their innocent victims paid for that potential saving in time.

For every driver who is hasty because of a genuine need to get somewhere in a hurry, a hundred drivers are hasty for no sound reason at all—because they are congenitally careless, irresponsible or incompetent. How long are we going to permit these drivers to sacrifice thousands of lives a year on the altar of recklessness?—Industrial News Review.

The selection of pecan varieties for a given soil type and location is one of the most important problems to the individual orchardist as well as to the entire citizenship of this and adjoining States. If the individual grower happens to adopt a variety or varieties not adapted to his location his experience has a tendency to discourage him and also retard pecan development in his part of the country. On the other hand, if his choice is of a variety which proves to be adapted to his environment it encourages and lends inspiration to others, encouraging them to engage in the development of the State's pecan industry. Also, in as much as the State has in the past 20 years appropriated directly more than $100,000.00 towards encouraging and promoting the pecan industry of the State, expecting that in the course of time the State as a whole would receive commensurate returns for the investment made, and as a result of the pecan propaganda, initiated by The State Department of Agriculture, under the direction of Hon. Fred W. Davis, beginning January 1st, 1916, pecan production has increased almost 300 per cent in the last 20 years.

Since 1886 A. D. there has been more than 50 Texas varieties named, and brought to the attention of pecan Growers. Most of these varieties have become obsolete, perhaps not because of the lack of individual merit, but because of the fact that a multitude of varieties is confusing. No doubt some of these discarded varieties deserve a better fate, and if they are still in existence, should be collected together and tested out, for, in the opinion of the writer, some of those obsolete varieties were superior to some of the varieties retained and cataloged by Nurserymen and offered to the public. Some of those that should have further trial are Commercial, Schenk, Meyers, Weisinger, Mosty and probably others.

Of the 50 or more named varieties, there are very few that give promise of becoming permanently established as dependable commercial sorts. A few years ago the tendency was for orchardists to use every variety which was brought to their attention. But for the past five or six years Pecan growers are disposed to confine themselves to fewer varieties, varieties which have recognized outstanding qualities, and which experienced commercial growers recommend.

So it has come to pass that pecan men are learning that most all of our food commodities appear on our markets under a definite name, class, and grade; for instance, "Delicious Apples 100 count", "Valency Orange, 150 per box"; etc.

Live-stock growers, in trying to meet the requirements of Packers and meat markets, have come to understand that the breed (variety of animal) which brings the highest prices on the market, is the animal that cuts out the greatest per cent of choice meats in proportion to its total weight. The same is true of domestic fowls. So it has come to pass that certain definite standards of measurement have been adopted in all of the major food commodity industries.

Likewise, the time has arrived when standards need to be promulgated and adopted in building up a commercial pecan industry. One of our Agriculture State Commissioner's of Texas, the Hon. Geo. B. Torrell, in 1912 promulgated certain rules and classifications of standardizing the Texas Pecans, with the hope that our Texas pecan industry might find it advisable to use legal grades and standards in the handling of our Texas Crop. However, the pecan producers have never seen proper to conform their selling operations on a class and grade basis. Still this measure will in the course of time be legally adopted and all growers, and dealers will find it will be advantageous to their best interest to adopt definite grades, classes and standards. Applicable to Pecans.

Therefore, in this connection, it seems pertinent to say that the commercial pecan growers have already learned or will discover that in order to build a worth while pecan industry they will have to conform to the same kind of rules and regulations, in growing and marketing of their pecans, that are recognized and practiced by the growers and dealers of most all other commercial commodities.

The marketing value of a pecan variety is judged largely from the standpoint of the use to which the particular variety is to be made and the qualities that adapt it to preparation for that market. If it is one of the small shelling type, then its comparative value is based on the percent of meat, the ease with which the meats may be extracted in whole halves, and to a lesser extent the appearance of the prepared kernels. To a large extent the eye passes judgment of the "looks" of a food commodity.

If the particular pecan happens to be in the class known as "table" nuts the selection of a variety is almost largely based on the appearance of the variety. Here in Texas where every one is familiar with the peculiar tannin markings and discolorations which give the variety its distinctive markings, these natural markings are not objectionable. But when our fancy and choice table varieties enter the Northern markets, the consumer is inclined to view our pecans critically, because of the fact that most all of the nuts of other kinds have been bleached in order to make them more attractive to the eye.

However, up to the present time, there is only two varieties of fancy table pecans offered on our markets under their variety names—the Schley and the Burkett, the first an Eastern and a Western sort. From the foregoing statements and observations our readers can see to some extent the importance that varieties of pecans bidding for the high class consumer trade will have in offering an attractive, uniform appearing article. Then if the internal characteristics meets with public approval, and the particular variety possesses superior taste and cracking quality, if it conforms to the other necessary qualities, as is applicable to most all other food commodities, then the Southwest can hope to build and establish a permanent pecan industry based on class, grade, and superiority of product.

IVE IN EXPOSE OF PRESS.

Announcement of a sensational series of articles exposing advertising fakes and the manner in which big commercial interests poison and defraud the consumer has just been made by The Progressive, the crusading La Follette weekly newspaper published at Madison, Wis.

The Progressive, according to the announcement, will reveal how big moneyed interests and corporate wealth dictate to the newspapers what to print and what not to print and how the newspapers themselves are a part of big business.

The Progressive does not accept paid advertising, the announcement says, but is published in the interests of the every day citizen and each issue contains facts and news behind

Carrying a 10,000-lb. cement block from Los Angeles to New York, a 1½-ton Chevrolet truck—one of the new 1936 models just introduced—demonstrated that safe driving means economy. Speed limits were observed in every community, with 35 m.p.h. the maximum on the open road. The 351½ miles were completed on two quarts of oil and 308.6 gallons of gasoline, at a cost of 01.6 cents per mile, or one-third of a cent per ton mile. The entire run was completed without any mechanical failure, repairs, or even a scratched fender. The illustrations show the test truck and features of the new 1936 models. ## SUNFLOWERS ADD POUNDS TO TURKEYS.

By Juliette Frazier.

The southwest slope of the land looked tillable enough, but for some unknown reason every kind of crop that had been tried upon it proved a failure. However, Farmer Brown had none too much land under cultivation to produce feed for all his live stock, therefore, he felt that he could not afford to let any of it lie idle.

Many bushels of grain were required to fatten the large flock of turkeys that were raised every year on the Brown farm. But always it was necessary to buy the greater part of the amount required. And, of course, this lessened Farmer Brown's profit considerably.

Finally, a year ago last spring, he decided to plant a strip of about two acres in sunflowers.

The result proved very satisfactory. The sunflowers grew well, yielding much more feed to the acre than corn. The planting was done when the danger of frost was past. The all danger of frost was past. The seeds were put into the ground with a corn planter, three seeds to the hill and the hill about 40 inches apart each way.

During the early part of growth the plants required rather extensive cultivation, but after they had reached a height of about two feet, all that was necessary was to keep the weeds down with a two-row cultivator. Then soon the plants grew from ten to twelve feet tall, and came to early maturity.

Before the sunflowers were matured the young turkeys were fed a regular commercial mash daily. But this was gradually lessened as the sunflower seeds were added.

When the sunflower seeds were ripening, the heads were clipped and were fed to the turkeys in their feeding yard. The sunflower seeds being exceptionally rich in oil, soon added poundage to the birds.

When the holiday season came, Farmer Brown's turkeys were the largest brought in to the local market that year. And, these were 250 of them, 95 for which he received top prices. Yet by feeding the sunflower seeds as a fattening ration, his work, time and money spent for raising this feed was almost one third less of what he had spent previous years when raising corn for the same purpose. And best of all, the land which had seemed so hopeless was turned into the most profitable strip on the place.

But the turkeys were not the only ones to benefit by this field of sunflowers. When enough had been raised to meet the requirements of the turkeys, the hogs were turned into the sunflower field, and they too, fattened thereon.

RESOLUTION.

Hondo, Texas, Dec. 10, 1935. Hon. County Commissioners' Court of Medina County, Texas, Hondo, Texas.

Gentlemen: We, the undersigned, constituting the Farmers' Council of Medina County, Texas, respectfully present the following resolution which was passed by our Council at a meeting held on Dec. 9th, 1935, and request that same receive your earnest and immediate attention.

Whereas, during the recent world war the flower of our citizenship offered themselves in the defense of our country, many of whom made the supreme sacrifice by giving their lives;

Whereas, it has long been the desire of our people to establish a fitting memorial in recognition of said patriotic services, and in memory of our dead heroes;

Whereas, we believe it would be the wish of our said soldiers, if they could express such wish, that any memorial erected in their memory should be one useful as well as beautiful;

Whereas, it is the consensus of opinion among us that nothing more decorative or useful could be constructed than a beautiful County Park with a fitting bronze tablet, which could be converted into a State Park maintained by the State and at the cost of the State;

Whereas, for a number of years Armistice Day has been commemorated and kept by our people at the Medina County Fair Grounds which place is most excellently located and equipped for every kind of lawful amusement, with an abundance of good water and electric lighting;

Whereas, said premises consisting of 90 acres of land could be beautified as a park and also used as a place of amusement and for agricultural exhibits by the people of this county;

Whereas, said premises could be purchased at a reasonable cost of approximately $20,000.00 including the land and costly improvements;

Whereas, we find that Medina County out of its present levy of taxes can purchase said property and pay for same, over a period of years, without any additional tax levy, thus giving us a fit and most worthy memorial of our departed heroes; Therefore, we ask that a petition be prepared which we will circulate, calling for an election throughout Medina County, authorizing and directing the Commissioners' Court to issue Park Bonds in the sum of approximately $20,000.00, for the purchase of said property by the county, and that same be duly dedicated to the Sacred Memory of the War Veterans of Medina County; we further ask that immediate steps be taken to secure Federal and State approval of said park site in order that same may be made into a State Park, maintained by the State, and that the improvements, and land not needed for park purposes be retained by the county for agricultural and amusement purposes.

Respectfully submitted,

F. C. STINSON,

ELECTION ORDER

THE STATE OF TEXAS,
COUNTY OF MEDINA.

On this the 20th day of January, 1936, the Commissioners' Court of Medina County, Texas, being in regular session, at the regular meeting place thereof in the Courthouse at Hondo, Texas, all members of said Court being present, namely:

R. J. Noonan, County Judge
A. A. Bader, Commissioner Precinct No. 1
H. J. Bippert, Commissioner Precinct No. 2
O. W. Tondre, Commissioner Precinct No. 3
J. W. Roberson, Commissioner Precinct No. 4

the following proceedings, among others, were had, to-wit:

There came on to be considered a Petition, signed by C. J. Bless and 125 other property taxpaying voters of Medina County, praying that an election be ordered to be held in said County to determine whether a majority of the legally qualified taxpaying voters of said County desire the issuance of bonds of said County in the sum of $20,000.00, for the purpose of purchasing lands within the boundary limits of said County, known as Medina County Fair Grounds Property, to be used for public parks and playgrounds; said bonds to mature serially or otherwise, not exceeding thirty years after date; and to bear interest not to exceed 5% per annum; and to determine whether the Commissioners' Court of said County shall be authorized to levy, assess and collect annually while said bonds, or any of them are outstanding, a tax upon all taxable property within said County sufficient to pay the current interest on said bonds and provide a sinking fund sufficient to pay the principal at maturity.

It appearing to the Court that it is advisable and to the best interest of Medina County to acquire said property for public park and playground purposes, it was moved by Commissioner Alf. A. Bader, and seconded by Commissioner O. W. Tondre, that said petition be granted, and that there be submitted to the qualified voters of said County, who own taxable property in said County and who have duly rendered the same for taxation, the proposition for the issuance of said bonds and the levying of the tax in payment thereof, as prayed for in said petition. ## Children Like Cheerful Drinks

"BUT it's good for you, dear—" True. But unless it looks good to you and tastes good to you, this oft-used line doesn't get far with children. Children like foods and drink that are full of cheer, full of flavor.

Tomato juice, for example. Almost every child likes tomato juice. When you place a tall thin glass of it on the table—gay, sparkling, full of zest and flavor—it needs no sales talk. It sells itself to children as well as to the rest of the family.

If You Like to "Fuss"

If you like to add a dash of this and a dash of that to the foods you serve to give them individuality, there are lots of things you can do to this healthful juice, even though it is delicious just as it comes from the can. Add a little orange juice, if you like, or a few drops of lemon juice—or both. If you are serving it for a dinner cocktail, instead of a breakfast juice, it has a nice peppy taste when you add just a drop of tabasco sauce, a dash of salt and a tiny bit of sugar. Be sure that it is ice cold, but don't add cracked ice, unless you are just ready to serve. It is too good to be diluted.

One canner which packs a delicious tomato juice suggests this recipe for Tomato Juice Cocktail:

Mix, in the following order, the contents of one can of tomato juice with one-half teaspoon celery salt, one and one-half teaspoons lemon juice, one and one-half teaspoons malt vinegar, one-half teaspoon Worcestershire sauce and five drops of tabasco sauce. Chill. This serves six.*

USED BY COURTESY THE OWL.
TENNIS TOURNAMENT POSTPONED.
The Tennis Tournament which was to be held last Saturday in Knippa was postponed, due to bad weather. Due to wet weather last week, all of the elimination matches to determine who would represent Hondo in the tournament had to be played Friday afternoon. Those who braved the cold weather Friday to play their matches were slightly disappointed when Saturday dawned cold and rainy, and the tournament had to be postponed.
In the first match of the evening Sue Muennink won an easy victory over Evelyn Ruth Dawson by the score of 6-0. LaVerne Ulbrich then defeated Elizabeth Reynolds by the same score, 6-0. In probably the best match of the afternoon, LaVerne Ulbrich was victorious over Sue Muennink. Score: 6-3. Sue Muennink surprised everyone with the good grade of tennis she played, and with a lot of practice she should be a runner-up for third place in the County Meet. Come on, Susie, we're expecting big things from you. In the last match of the evening, LaVerne Ulbrich defeated Ada Bell Carter by the score of 6-2. Ada Bell won the first two games, but only to have LaVerne come back and win six straight and finish the set.
For some unknown reason Edward Dawson failed to arrive to play off his match with Roland Nester, thereby forfeiting the match to the latter.
FINAL RESULTS:
Ginger Fusselman—Girls' singles.
Jo Reilly and La Verne Ulbrich—Girls' doubles.
Walter Nester—Boys' singles.
Roland Nester and Edmund Ney—Boys' doubles.

D. M. CLUB HAS DANCE.
The D. M.'s celebrated very highly February 1, with a dance at Sis Merriman's studio. The hall was gaily decorated with valentines. Punch was served throughout the evening and during intermission delicious sandwiches were served. This dance celebrated three events: Valentine's, the debut of the D. M. Club, and a farewell party for Burnell Rihn. Those who enjoyed the evening were: Misses Mary Elizabeth Meyer, Annette Rothe, Kathleen Reilly, Sue Muennink, Fern Ulbrich, Betty Jean Merriman, Wanda Redmond, Evelyn Knopp, Frances Ruth Fly, Evelyn Barnes, Billie Merritt, Chamberlain, Spratt, Shaw, Adams, Richards and Stubbs; Messrs. F. F. A. TO HAVE DANCE.

The Hondo Chapter, F. F. A., is to hold a dance at the Hondo Gym on February 15. This dance has been planned to honor the Home Economics class. The dance is to be an annual affair. No orchestra has been engaged as yet, but the music will probably be furnished by the same orchestra that played for the football banquet.
The Chapter officers are going to Dilley Saturday for a District F. F. A. officers' meeting. There will be a banquet held at 7:00 and the meeting will follow.
Most of the boys are preparing animals for the livestock show to be held in San Antonio on February 26, 27, 28th.
Three more projects were completed this week. They were those of Harold Weeber, Lester Saathoff, and Murrel Stiegler.

The S. F. Club met at the home of Evelyn Ruth Dawson Monday, February 3rd. Two talks were made, one by Elizabeth Reynolds and the other by Betty Merriman. The roll was called, Sister Meyer being the only one absent. A dance, which will be given Saturday night, Feb. 8, was discussed and planned. Refreshments of hot tea, candy, and apple pie with whipped cream, were served to Helen Burgin, Frances Fly, Betty Merriman, Sue Muennink, Kathleen Reilly, Elizabeth Reynolds, Mrs. M. I. Broxton, and the hostess, Evelyn Dawson.
The next meeting will be at the home of Frances Fly.

BASKETBALL.
The Hondo High School Owls played only two games the past week. The first was played with South San Antonio, in San Antonio last Wednesday. The Owls were defeated by a score of 24-17. It seems that Hugo Schweers was the "big shot" in this game. If you want to know about it just ask him.

In the only other game of the week the Owls were defeated by Devine by a score of 22-17. The Owls led at the end of the third quarter, but were unable to hold their lead in the last few minutes of the game. The Hondo Town Team then won a game from an independent team from Devine, in the second game of a double-header.
There will be one or two games played this week, but no definite date has yet been set on which they are to be played.

SIXTH GRADE NEWS.
Mary Jane and Martha Ferrell enjoyed a visit to Boggus' Ranch Sunday.

We were very sorry when one of our pupils, Jonelle Gaines, received an injury Monday while playing on the school grounds.

FOURTH GRADE.
The fourth grade is one of the most interesting grades in school. Everything in the room is orderly and attractive.
The boards are adorned with pictures of distant lands which the pupils are studying in geography. The bulletin boards also contain pictures of foreign countries and various other subjects that are being studied.
Their art project is a book of pictures and illustrations of how methods of transportation have improved in Texas. It contains quite a bit about the Texas Centennial.
The class has dressed its windows with green curtains. The backs of the erasers have been painted to match them. They have also added book shelves in which to keep music and reference books.
A very interesting work is their health project, a large book made by the class, containing pictures of different types of health foods.
The room is kept orderly by two librarians, who attend to the libraries and check out books; two doorkeepers who keep order while the class marches in and out; two monitors who keep the books straight. These offices are appointed each week.
—Owlets—
FIRST GRADE.
The first grade welcomes a new pupil, Nycum Brown, who is traveling with the "Texas Kidds". He rides a mule in the show.
The girls just won't seem to let the boys get ahead of them. They are proud of their new member, June Marie Ketchersid, from Del Rio.
Several have been absent during the past few weeks on account of illness.
The first grade enjoyed seeing picture shows and making them. They have started a new one about the little negro boy, Espamandas.

From among the many correspondents we find many interesting items. The following are "Castrovilla Cullings" taken from the Castrovilla Anvil:
Mr. E. P. Alsbury, the bridge contractor, is here giving the work his personal supervision. The foundations of the main pier are being laid and it is to be hoped that the work will progress as it should henceforth.
A Mexican watermelon vendor from near Lytle, after selling his load out here Saturday, drove into the river at Biediger crossing about ten o'clock Sunday morning just after the rise came and both of his horses were drowned, his wagon uncoupled and scattered promiscuously along the stream.
Sheriff Joe Ney was here the middle of the week receiving 100 head of yearling steers which he purchased from various parties at $10.50 a head. He will stock his ranch with them.
Albert and George Platz and sisters, Misses Lillie and Gusta, were here from Devine for the Fourth of July Ball. They were the guests of Mrs. H. V. Haas while here.

Considering the scarcity of meats of all kinds and the consequent high prices of the same; and remembering the rapidity with which chickens develop into broilers and fryers; and considering further the abundance and cheapness at which chicken feed can be had, it would seem but natural for poultry raising to assume a far more extensive scale than usual this year. He who produces his own meat is most certain of having it.

More circulating medium in the hands of the people and reduction of the public debt, with a consequent reduction in the burden of taxation, are prime requisites for a return of prosperity. Both of these ends would be served by payment of the soldier-bonus in national currency; both will be defeated if paid with borrowed money secured by the sale of bonds on which the tax-payers must pay interest. Ex-Service men should demand payment at once in national currency—and accept nothing else!

American statesmanship would save itself of many a foolish notion could it ever bring itself to a realization that before "foreign pauper labor" could dump any of its cheap produce in this country it would have to accept in exchange some of the surplus commodities we have felt called upon to destroy because we had too much. In a fair exchange both parties profit; the more exchanging the more profits, the more prosperity the higher the standard of living and the less "pauper labor" everywhere. America should be a nation of traders, with her ships frequenting every mart on the globe.

The present administration is a challenge to the Republican party. If that were all only Republicans would be concerned. The present administration is a challenge to legitimate and orderly business. If that were all business and those dependent upon business men might take care of themselves as they did in the N. R. A. fiasco. But this administration is more than that; it is a challenge to Democracy! Not content with abandoning its platform and having its policies repudiated by the court of last resort, it has counseled innovations in government "notwithstanding any reasonable doubts as to the constitutionality" of such measures. What answer has Democracy for this alien challenge in its own ranks? Let her statesmen speak.

"The aim of the Potato Act is to eliminate, through a tax on the sale of surplus potatoes, the gluts which have depressed prices in the past. IF THE LAW OPERATES SUCCESSFULLY, BOTH CONSUMERS AND GROWERS WILL BE BENEFITED." The foregoing naive statement is the closing sentences from a propaganda article from the Agricultural Adjustment Administration in defense of the monstrous potato control act. Since to make the consumer's costs high and to diminish the producers market outlet at the same time is to hurt both, the potato act is damned by both counts before it begins operation. The proper function of an Agricultural Department is to do the opposite—broaden the market, promote storage facilities for the preservation of surplus and provide financial means for carrying the surplus until consumption absorbs it. That way lies "benefit to both producer and consumer" and prevents waste.

ONE WONDERS.

In a syndicated article by David Lawrence, one of the country's most widely read political writers, he makes this statement:

"As a matter of fact, most of his (the President's) opponents will concede the WORTHINESS of the GENERAL OBJECTIVES of the New Deal but will question the methods and laws adopted to attain those objectives."

And one wonders!

One wonders if Mr. Lawrence, and those who think with him, accept those objectives on their face value because they lack the acumen to look below the surface for a deeper, more sinister motive, or, for some undisclosed reason, choose rather to shut their eyes to it and deceiving themselves purposely deceive others?

When Mr. Roosevelt declared the bank holiday in March 1933, he gave as his purpose the prevention of runs on the banks until they could be supplied with sufficient new currency to take care of any panicky demands.

None of these banks got any of this money; the Federal Reserve System jockeyed him or brow-beat him out of his ostensible purpose; and these banks that were to be strengthened with an inflation of circulation, such of them as could, were allowed to re-open on faith and without new finances.

Those not since CLOSED by CONSOLIDATION are still doing business without the help of this new money.

Who was benefited by this continued shortage of circulating medium?

Obviously the men who own and control the Reserve banks and whose bidding these Banks do?

Instead of a "blood infusion" of new currency into the depleted arteries of business, we witnessed the anomalous performance of a "bleeding" of the country of all its gold coin and gold certificates.

The government issued its "promises to pay", not in legal tender currency but in non-taxable notes on which the tax-payers must pay interest, locked it up out of use and placed an armed guard over it at the further expense of the taxpayers.

Uncle Sam now stands guard over some ten billion dollars of this unused metal while his creditors—the bond-holders—hold a mortgage three times over its face value against it and draw interest on that mortgage from the tax payers while neither the bond investment nor the income in interest on the investment pay any tax.

Whatever the "objective" of such a move, the beneficiaries are quite obvious.

Not content with this, the administration "devalued" the dollar by almost fifty per cent, thereby making the metal in the gold dollar worth nearly double what it formerly was in all the other commodities of the world which are for sale.

The bondholders in that case are no doubt willing to let whosoever will claim the "objective" so long as they get the "benefit" of doubling the value of the gold which they own by virtue of a first mortgage three times over on the country's entire supply.

Meantime, like a "counter irritant" applied to hide the cause of what hurts you, business was plastered over with the N. R. A., out of which it wiggled to find that in addition to edging in and monopolizing the loan business upon which the little country banks had prospered, the circulation privilege of these same banks have been taken away from them and the authority to furnish the country's supply of currency—instead of being restored to the Federal government where it alone rightfully and constitutionally belongs—has been centralized in the Reserve Banks.

Another "objective" gone wrong? or was it?

And to cap the climax, if a study of the situation by the late lamented Senator Schall is to be relied upon—and we have not seen his statements challenged,—behind every one of these altruistic-garbed government loan agencies, stands a gigantic holding company composed of organized corporate wealth, the government merely acting as underwriter, distributing agent and collector for organized greed that, like an all-embracing octopus, has its tentacles of permanently entrenched industrial slavery about humanity and is sapping industry of its lifeblood.

Is it unreasonable to judge the "objective" of any movement by its beneficiaries?

Is it possible Mr. Lawrence, with all his acumen and vast opportunity for knowledge, is lacking in discernment to determine the true "objective"; or does he purposely camouflage it because to acknowledge it would be to acknowledge that the way to liberate America from industrial slavery, and relieve the people of the depression miseries that are serving the purpose of the money masters to still further enslave us, lies in restoring to a people's government its prerogative of issuing the money of the country?

One wonders!

Had Mr. Roosevelt started the printing presses on printing the much abused "printing press money" at the psychological moment in 1933, when the Federal Reserve Banks refused to issue the needed currency, he would not only have ended the depression over night but in the same act have struck the shackles of industrial slavery to our money masters from the limbs of American industry.

Whatever his "objective", his acts have weilded those shackles many times more gallingly than they were before and doomed unborn generations yet to come to wear them.

WAS THAT HIS TRUE "OBJECTIVE"—so successfully hidden behind a mask of altruism as to deceive Mr. Lawrence?

One wonders!

It is generally conceded now that the primary purpose of sending some two million American boys to Europe during the World War was to "make the world safe" for the bond investments of the international bankers. They did the dirty job for them with a zest worthy of a better cause and came back to little glory and less pay from the malevolent money changers whose shackles they raked out of the fire. Now they are about to be made the catspaw again for these same money changers. If, as it seems they will do, they drop the demand for payment of their bonus in national currency and accept it in any other form, they will open up an opportunity for these same money changers to take some two billions of their wealth out of the reach of the tax collector and invest it in bonds that will earn them 100 per cent income that, like the investment, will be non-taxable but which the tax-payers will have to pay. Many of the children of these ex-service men will not live long enough to see the end of paying tribute to the bond-holders if the bonus is paid with borrowed money. Will the ex-service men be twice duped by the same aggregation of speculators in blood money?

NEW YEAR WISH.

And so may this New Year
In passing bring, my friends,
To you fruition full
Of all your worthy ends!

—FLETCHER DAVIS.

"Nine months ago, the American mind was focused on Washington, as on some miraculous shrine; today it turns more normally to its own affairs. Every attempt at class rule by class prejudice has failed. Every attempt to subjugate our citizens as vassals of the State has failed. A vast sense of relief possesses the whole people." Thus spake W. J. Cameron in one of his Ford Sunday evening hour talks. And right well and truthfully did he speak. But while we have, for the time being, escaped vassalage to the state we are still vassals to the "money changers" to whom the government has surrendered the control of the money and credit supply of the country. Don't lose sight of the main incubus to economic freedom and prosperity—the MONEY MONOPOLY OF OUR MONEY MASTERS.

THE LAST ROUND-UP.

There's thundering of hoofs on ranges wide
In Texas, where the long-horned cattle go Down winding thorny trails they wander slow,
While frisking calves romp by their mother's side
And cowboys round up strays, and steers divide
To brand them near the campfire's ruddy glow.
They bed at night where flowering cactus grow,
And sinuous rattlers round their blankets glide.

The cowboy's last round-up will come some day.
He knows. He asks not for eternal rest,
He dreams of heaven with its riders
there
To lasso steers, or stars, if they should stray,
Or twist a comet's tail, would suit him best;
In heaven's active service, he would share.

—JESSICA MOORHEAD YOUNG.

DREAMS.

His dreams are of far horizons,
Of distant lands,
Of burning sky above a shining sea,
And golden sands.

My dreams are of a house
All white and small,
With flowers blooming in the yard
So straight and tall.

He dreams of winding roads, and gallant sails—
Of sandalwood and musk, While I—I dream of curly heads and pattering feet
And prayers at dusk!

—LOUISE NAGLE MORROW.

CINQUAINS.

Autumnal Goodbye.

Leaves fall
While shapes that cross
The sun reflect fall's mood—
The husky import of its late Goodbye.

Fall Harvest.

What wealth
Of fruits and grains,
Rich jewels of the fall,
To store away against an hour
Of want.

—GRACE M. GRAVES.

A pearl, still undiscovered, lies Within the innocence of truth:
The wonder in a pair of eyes,
The beauty in the smile of Youth.

QUATRAIN.

The sparkling bowl of Youth's first love,
I sipped—then felt its pain.
But were it offered by your hand,
I think I'd drink again.

WINTER.

As I look through my window this morn
I see a new day has been born,
Every thing that was black last night
Is covered with snow pure and white.

And as the sun shines, on the trees
A million diamonds dance in the breeze.
The snow is a shroud for mother earth,
To prepare her for Springtime birth.

So for the saints at the end of time
Their garments will be washed from crime,
And their crowns will glitter so bright
Like sun on the snow that fell last night.

I THEN SHALL KNOW.

O give me beauty!
O give me song!
To cheer my heart
When road is long.

If I have these—
I then shall know
Life's worth the while Where'er I go.

THE SILVER WEDDING.

The fragrance of the mignonette
Was on the air as we passed by,
And our lips met,
Though we were shy.

The fragrance of the mignonette
Is with us now as we sit here,
Our lips meet yet
In love, my dear.

—ANN PAGET.

WHAT OF THIS NEW YEAR?
(1936)

What will the harvest
And the answer be
When this new year closes
Against you and me?

Can we with possessions
Of wealth in our hand
Rejoice, when the poor
Is oppressed in the land?

What gain will be ours
When under the sod
With no harvest of souls
We must answer to God?

What will the harvest
And our answer be
If Time should lock its door
Against you and me?

O money-warring Nations,
God knows the sinful heart;

WITH STAFF AND PEN I PRE-SENT THEE.

If grim old fate should ever so decree
That for a week or month I'd
"go away,
Then with this dainty little staff and pen
You'd write to me, my loneliness to stem.

Somehow letters always joy do bring,
Especially when each word with love does ring
And when they come from one so true as you,
They serve to dispel gloomy thoughts and blue.

But if I had my wish fate would so
decree
That you would always be real near to me
Then this little pen would be quite useless, dear,
For you could sweetly whisper in my ear.

With your dear head nestled snugly,
darling, whisper,
And if at times our words seem vague-like lipser,
We will understand them—and may be overcome
With ecstacy—For we shall then be one.

—OTTO WELTNER.

IF WE WERE YOUNG AGAIN.

If we were young again, care free,
And felt the thrill of Santa Claus;
As when we trimmed the Christmas tree.

If we were young again, care free,
To join in friends' gay repartee,
We'd never look for faults or flaws
If we were young again, care free,
And felt the thrill of Santa Claus.

—EDNA VAUGHAN BLACK.

DUTY.

Duty
Should never be Considered an unpleasant Task but a privilege to be Enjoyed.

—JEANETTE NOURLAND.

HOKKU.

Old songs never die . . .
They rest like ships at anchor Safe within the heart.

—C. G. ADAMS.

WILL ROGERS.

Relentless time—uncertain fate—
Thou claimed the life of Will;
Too few the years, too sad the end—
His place no one can fill!

High soared his fame, wide spread his soul
To touch a world at rest;
His life was anchored in the hearts
Combined in one great breast.

Alone in combat—peace, his sword—
He held the race at bay;
And never man in civic garb
Like him had led the way.

Each laugh was order for a cheer;
Each smile, a signal true;
Each word, a silver messenger
With news back home for you!

The millions, scattered far and wide,
Thru absence, will recall
How much his thoughts and friendly ways
Have meant to each and all.

But still our comrade he will be
In silence, sweet and low;
And those who follow on thru time,
Will see his life a-glow.

May tender hearts of loving friends,
As gently as a dove,
Enshrine the living deeds of him
In one great wreath of LOVE!

—VICTOR P. HAMMER.

HILLS.

Blue hills that thread my heart with song . . . my feet spurn time—it is not difficult to dream—or climb

To heights where beauty lives and trees . . . Joyce Kilmer's trees must have included hills—blue hills like these!

—GRACE M. GRAVES.

GOSSIP.

Now, this is what he said
And this is what she said:

Perhaps it would be well
If any one could tell

Just what he did not say
And what she did not say.

—EDITH ANISFIELD WOLF.

IN MORNING'S HUSH.

O little thrush!
Why loudly sing
In morning's hush?

Was night too long
To wait to bring
The world your song?

—C. G. ADAMS.

KINDRED.

Who tills the soil with gentle hands,
Then plants a seed to watch it grow,
Ascends above this mortal plane
To somewhere nearer God, I know.

—KATHARINE KELLY WOODLEY.

LOVE IS LIFE.

Love's earliest lesson brought to mind
Is self-denying giving.
A man whose love is hard to find
Is nearer dead than living.

—LOUIS MILLER ANDREWS.

Hens in Winter Quarters Need Special Care

"Hens should have a comfortable house to live in," says C. S. Johnson, Manager of the Poultry Department of the Purina Mills. "This doesn't mean expensive quarters but a place that is clean, dry, well insulated, free from drafts, and well ventilated."

"In accomplishing these features the first important step is cleanliness and sanitation. The house should be scrubbed and disinfected regularly with a Cre-so-fec solution at the rate of one pint to six gallons of water.
To avoid crowding, at least 3 1/2 to 4 square feet of floor space should be allowed per bird. Plenty of ventilation, too, is important because in a 24-hour period 200 hens will throw off 28 quarts of water in the air they breathe out, and through their droppings."

"Roosts," Johnson says, "should be 12 to 14 inches apart, allowing 6 to 9 inches space per bird, with the perch poles running from the rear of the house toward the front, not from side to side. It is best to provide dropping boards, using poultry wire under the roosts and over the top of the boards for proper sanitation. A nest for each 6 to 8 birds is recommended. If space permits, nests for light breeds should be 12x12 inches and for heavy breeds 14x14 inches. "A good clean litter is essential. Wheat straw, oat straw, wood shavings, or peat moss will serve the purpose. When necessary, the litter should be changed and the floor thoroughly cleaned. The house itself should be dry at all times and everything kept clean and sanitary both inside and outside the house."

"The care of the flock during these months of confinement is just as important as keeping the house in shape for the flock," says Johnson. "The owner should cull his laying stock as early in the fall as possible, replacing them with pullets. Doing this will insure a steady year-round supply of eggs."

Worming Is Easy.
"If the birds show symptoms of worms, they should be wormed before going into winter quarters, and as often after as indicated. Worming is made easy by the use of Round-worm Tablets to get rid of large round and Tapeworms. Both of these products were developed in the Purina Research Laboratories."

Making sure that the layers get in their feed the elements needed for health and egg production, is more common sense than counts for a lot in keeping chickens on a profitable basis during the winter months, according to Johnson.

Hens Need Vitamin A.
"Hens need a lot of Vitamin A for their bodies and to put into the eggs they lay," he says. "The faster a hen lays, the more she draws on the Vitamin A reserve in her own body.
Finally, the reserve is used up and unless it is replenished the hen goes to pieces. That's why hen mortality has increased at such an alarming rate the last few years. It is a known fact that hen mortality runs from 27% to 35% in many parts of the country and in some congested areas goes as high as 55.5%."

"Poultrymen everywhere know that hens literally 'lay their heads off' during the spring months and yet keep in good health. They do not go to pieces. One of the big reasons is the abundance of young, tender, green feed which tones them up and puts them in radiant health. There's an 'elusive something' in fresh, young, tender, green feed that does wonders for hens. That's why poultrymen years ago began feeding sprouted oats to hens during the long winter months.
But sprouted oats were unsatisfactory and few poultrymen would bother with them. A more practical way had to be discovered."

Puratore New Discovery.
"After years of research, scientists have found a way to capture this goodness and put it into a bag to feed.
They have found a way to extract that 'elusive something' and refine it into Puratore, the new ingredient that is now being used in Purina poultry mashes. Enough Puratore is mixed in each bag to step up its Vitamin A activity 2 1/2 times. This gives hens sufficient Vitamin A to let them lay all winter like they do in spring and keep in springtime health."

"Your dog—he's a trusting companion, a willing helper, a best friend.
His life is in your hands and he looks to you to take care of him—to furnish the things so necessary for his health and comfort. He can't tell you with words what he wants," says A. H.
Leonard of the Purina Dog Department, "but trusts you to provide protection against disease and parasites, which so frequently make a dog's life everything the term implies."

Some of the things Leonard calls attention to, are keeping the dog free from fleas and worms and keeping his living quarters clean. He advises with Cre-so-fec to kill disease germs, fleas and worm eggs. For controlling roundworms and hookworms, he advises treatment with Roundworm Tablets.
Dusting with a high grade of flea powder, he advises, kills the fleas on the dog's body. Cre-so-fec, Round-worm Tablets, and high grade flea powder are kept at every store, mill and elevator where Checkerboard feeds are sold. They help to provide dog health and dog comfort.

A PICTURE—AND A PRAYER.

Two children played beside a stream that rippled to the sea.
A girl, all dimpled, smiling grace,
with beauty good to see—A boy, of sturdy, dauntless mien, his bearing bold and free.

And in their joyous, carefree youth,
as children always do,
They played their game of make-believe as tho' 'twere truly true.
He cried, "I am a robber bold, and bring my loot to you!"

The years flew by on winged feet,
and they were lad and maid;
She with her virgin beauty still; he,
clean and un-afraid,
And like the youth of every age,
their love vows they made.

Before the altar of their God, in all youth's radiant pride,
They took their places, hand in hand,
they knelt there, side by side,
Their pledges made, their blessing heard, and they were man and bride.

"A picture beautiful," you say, "and not a blot to mar?"
"Impossible!" I quite agree, for

Is heard the roar of cannon throats, those vicious "dogs of War!"

that rippled to the sea.
A woman, 'spite of tear-dimmed eyes,
with beauty good to see—
A man, courageous, firm resolved,
"Democracy" to free.

And in their grief of parting they—as lovers always do—Clung close-embraced, half-doubting that this sadness could be true.
Low-voiced he said, "My Duty done, I'll hasten home—to you."

The days dragged by on leaden feet, and they were days of woe.

WINTER COMPLAINT.
By John W. Brown, M. D., C. P. H.,
State Health Officer.
Babies and young children need as careful protection at this time of the year against "winter complaint" as they do during the warm weather against "summer complaint".

By "winter complaint" is meant influenza, tonsillitis, pneumonia, bronchitis, and other diseases of the respiratory or "breathing" system as distinguished from "summer complaint" which attacks the digestive system. Diseases like pneumonia may develop from a neglected cold; they may follow as an after effect of measles or whooping cough or one of the other so-called children's diseases; or they may occur suddenly and with very little warning. They are more prevalent in winter than in summer and they are even more difficult to combat than the digestive ailments. Nearly all are spread through the secretions from the nose and mouth.

These respiratory diseases are particularly dangerous to babies and young children. Those not in vigorous health are more susceptible to these infections. The first line of defense is to strengthen their powers of resistance against ill health; the second is to keep them under medical supervision; the third is to keep them away from others—young or old—who have coughs, colds, or fevers.

The importance of keeping young children away from others who have colds, or any other infectious disease cannot be emphasized too strongly. The utmost care should be exercised by those who have colds, and who are unavoidably brought into contact with young children, not to cough or sneeze so that the spray of saliva reaches the children.

Pineapple Is a Favorite Fruit At White House Meals and Functions

By Jane Rogers

AT her desk in her cheerful little office in the White House Mrs. Harry Nesbitt, housekeeper for the President and Mrs. Roosevelt, since they came to Washington, picked up a note left by her secretary.

She read:

"Only two cans of pineapple juice left on the shelves."

She smiled and said:

"That, I think, answers your question as to whether or not we use pineapple in the White House. I had two cases of it only a few days ago and it is all gone."

Canned pineapple juice, she revealed, is just as popular in the White House as it is in hundreds of thousands of humble homes throughout the country.

The Roosevelts also like sliced and crushed pineapple, canned or fresh. It is served at breakfast, lunch and dinner.

Mrs. Nesbitt drew out the book in which she records the menus for state dinners, past and present. She pointed to the first of the big dinners this season, the annual dinner for the Cabinet given late in December. Glazed pineapple was served as a garnish for the meat dish, in this case fried chicken. Looking ahead she called attention to the salad planned for the dinner to the Supreme Court—pineapple salad. Again she smiled and said:

"Those are the big parties but we use it even more frequently at family meals."

Sautéed or glazed pineapple, she said, is excellent served with almost any meat dish. She, personally, likes it especially with fowl. Preparing it is simple. Here is her recipe for pineapple glazed:

Use the best canned pineapple slices. Sprinkle them lightly with sugar, dot with butter and put them under the broiler until sizzling brown. Serve on the meat platter or separately in their own dish.

Pineapple juice she serves as a cocktail, plain or with a dash of lemon. Luncheons at the White House, either for the family or guests, are very apt to lead off with a glass of chilled pineapple juice. And likely as not to wind up with pineapple Bavarian cream or pineapple ice cream.

Pineapple baked on casserole with sweet potatoes is another favorite White House dish. Slice the potatoes, Mrs. Nesbitt says, and place them in the casserole with alternate layers of pineapple. Dot the top with butter, sprinkle with sugar (not too much) and pop it into the oven to bake until brown.

"That is really a grand dish," said Mrs. Nesbitt, "and we all love it."

The President, she says, likes fruit salads. Pineapple, grape fruit or alligator pears are his favorites. He wants them served with a French dressing. French dressing—but that is another story. Mrs. Nesbitt has very definite ideas on the subject. He takes his pineapple salad straight (just the fruit, canned or fresh) but occasionally likes a bit of cheese with it. Cheese was served with the pineapple salad at the Chief Justices' dinner.

Pineapple juice, Mrs. Nesbitt thinks, is essential for a good fruit punch. Those boiling Washington summers, with even the White House sizzling under the sun, make such drinks important.

"Besides," she says, "they are so good for you. The biggest part of my job is keeping the family in good health and the secret of that is plenty of fruit, fruit juices and fresh vegetables."

CENTENNIAL.

Do you realize that we are going to celebrate in just a few months the 100th anniversary of our state? How much does this mean to you? On March 2, 1936, 100 years will have passed since the early inhabitants of this territory declared their independence from Mexico.

The year of 1836 is the all eventful year in Texas history. In the fifty days between March 2 and April 21, 1836, in Texas, more important historical events happened than has ever happened in that length of time in the whole world. At the beginning of 1836 the Texans faced disaster. Their governing body had gone to pieces, and there were not 1000 men under arms in all Texas. They were without a government, without an army, without a treasury, and without credit. A convention was held, a declaration of independence drafted, and Houston was again chosen commander-in-chief of the Texas armies. On April 21, 1836, Sam Houston's army attacked the Mexicans under Santa Anna at San Jacinto and defeated them. This battle ended the war and Texas had succeeded in her struggle for her independence from Mexico.

Don't you think it fitting that our Centennial Celebration should be looked forward to and made to be a real success? The success of our Centennial Celebration depends upon the interest and enthusiasm displayed by each and everyone of us.

—Exchange.

I FEEL FINE

Mothers read this:

A CONSTIPATED child is so easily straightened out, it's a pity more mothers don't know the remedy.

A liquid laxative is the answer, mothers. The answer to all your worries over constipation. A liquid can be measured. The dose can be exactly suited to any age or need. Just reduce the dose each time, until the bowels are moving of their own accord and need no help.

This treatment will succeed with any child and with any adult.

Doctors use liquid laxatives. Hospitals use the liquid form. If it is best for their use, it is best for home use. And today, there are fully a million families that will have no other kind in the house.

The liquid laxative generally used is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is a doctor's prescription, now so widely known that you can get it all ready for use at any drugstore.

Getting a Job and Getting Ahead

By Floyd B. Foster, Vocational Counselor, International Correspondence Schools

Getting the True Perspective On Your Job

EDUCATORS and business men of long experience have estimated that it takes anywhere from two to ten years for the high school or college graduate to adjust himself to the business world. The more you can shorten this period of adjustment, the greater and quicker will be your success.

Much of the difficulty of adjustment undoubtedly comes from the beginner's inability to see in its true perspective both his own job and the business he is in. As a result he may soon become convinced that the business is dull and without opportunities, and his own job mere routine drudgery. Such an impression becomes an almost unsurmountable obstacle to success.

Try to see beyond the routine of your job to the essential part it plays in the functioning of the business. At the same time, by spare time reading and study of business subjects, seek to acquire a true picture of the part the business plays in the economic structure. Once you have succeeded in this, your own work will acquire a new interest and the opportunities your business offers will become apparent.

No matter how great your intelligence or your willingness to work, interest in and enthusiasm for your work are vital to success. Such interest and enthusiasm must come through knowledge and understanding. These come to few by instinct or as a gift from heaven. They are acquired through the extra study and thinking a man is willing to devote to his job.

OF COURSE.

In the parlor there were three; William, the parlor lamp and she. Two is company—no doubt, That is why the lamp went out.

Do You Ever Wonder

Whether the "Pain" Remedy You Use is SAFE?

Ask Your Doctor and Find Out

Don't Entrust Your Own or Your Family's Well-Being to Unknown Preparations

THE person to ask whether the preparation you or your family are taking for the relief of headache is SAFE to use regularly is your family doctor. Ask him particularly about Genuine BAYER ASPIRIN. He will tell you that before the discovery of Bayer Aspirin most "pain" remedies were advised against by physicians as bad for the stomach and, often, for the heart. Which is food for thought if you seek quick, safe relief.

Scientists rate Bayer Aspirin among the fastest methods yet discovered for the relief of headache and the pains of rheumatism, neuritis and neuralgia. And the experience of millions of users has proved it safe for the average person to use regularly. In your own interest remember this.

You can get Genuine Bayer Aspirin at any drug store—simply by asking for it by its full name, BAYER ASPIRIN. Make it a point to do this—and see that you get what you want.
